Main Body:

A slide show with black & white pictures of recent projects that fades in and out. After a couple of seconds a translucent rectangle with orange outline slides in showing text relevant to the project. On the right hand side of the screen there is a navigation menu in case the user wants to select a different picture. In total there will be 4 pictures on the slide show. If the user clicks on the picture that it is being shown at that moment the website will take him to the page of that specific project

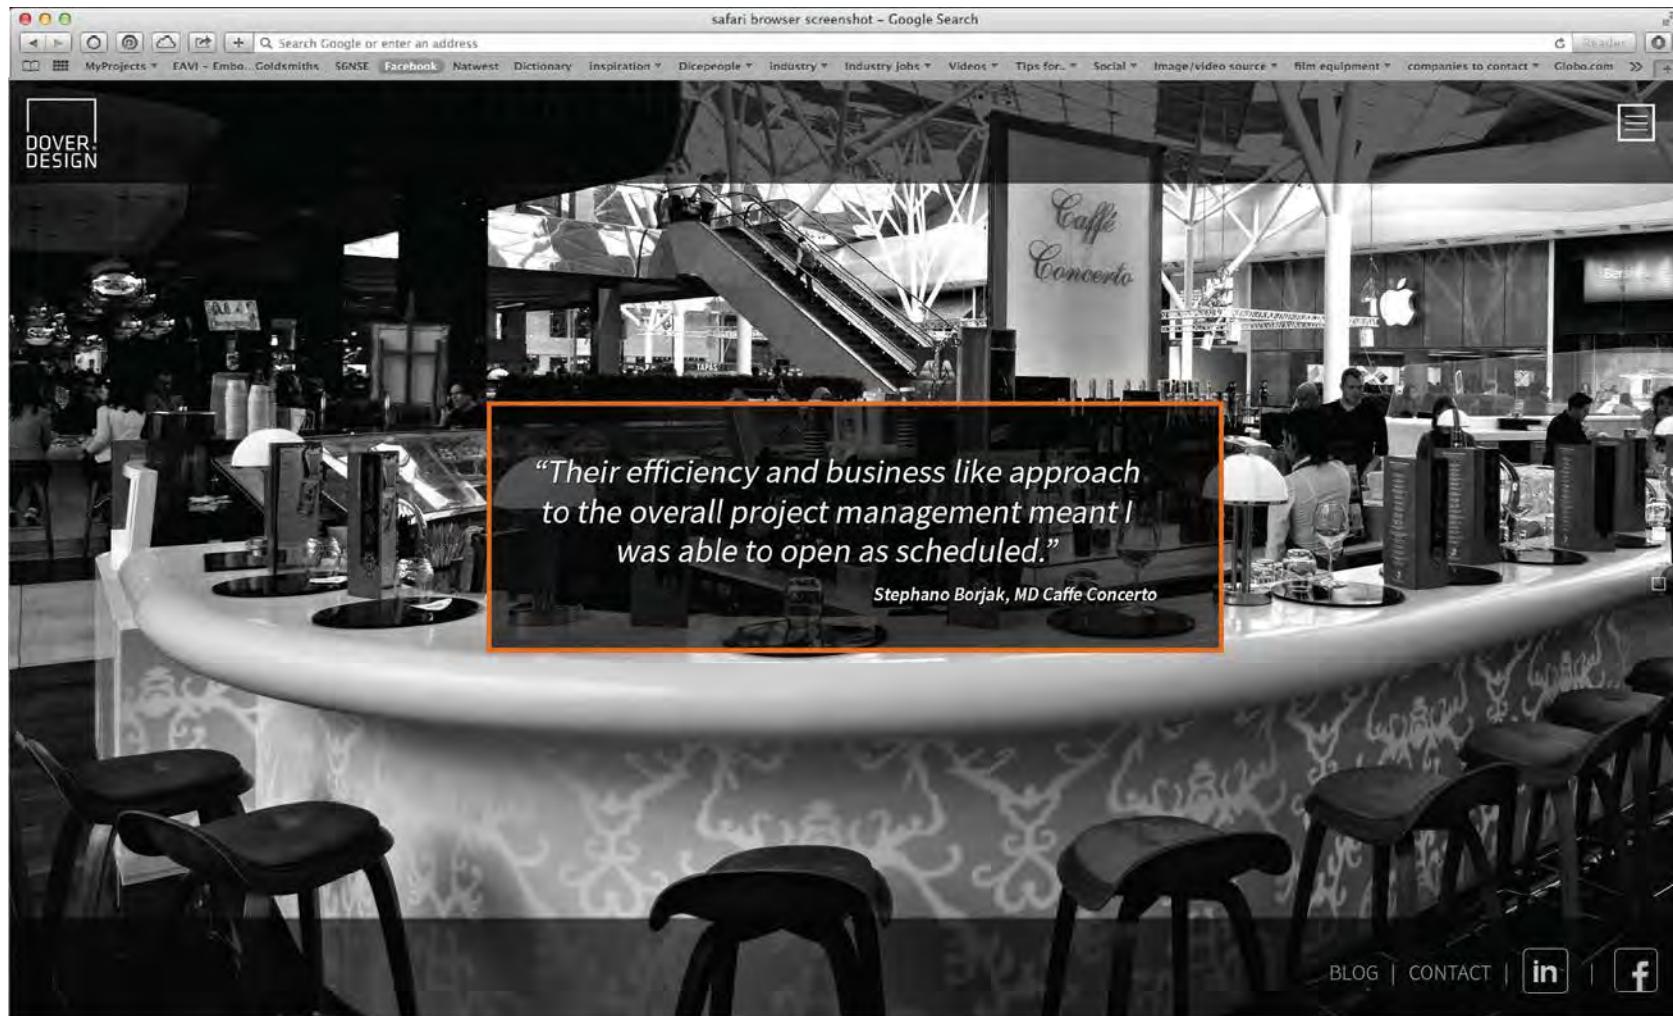

//Index > Homepage

It starts with one picture. There is a subtle zoom in movement in the picture

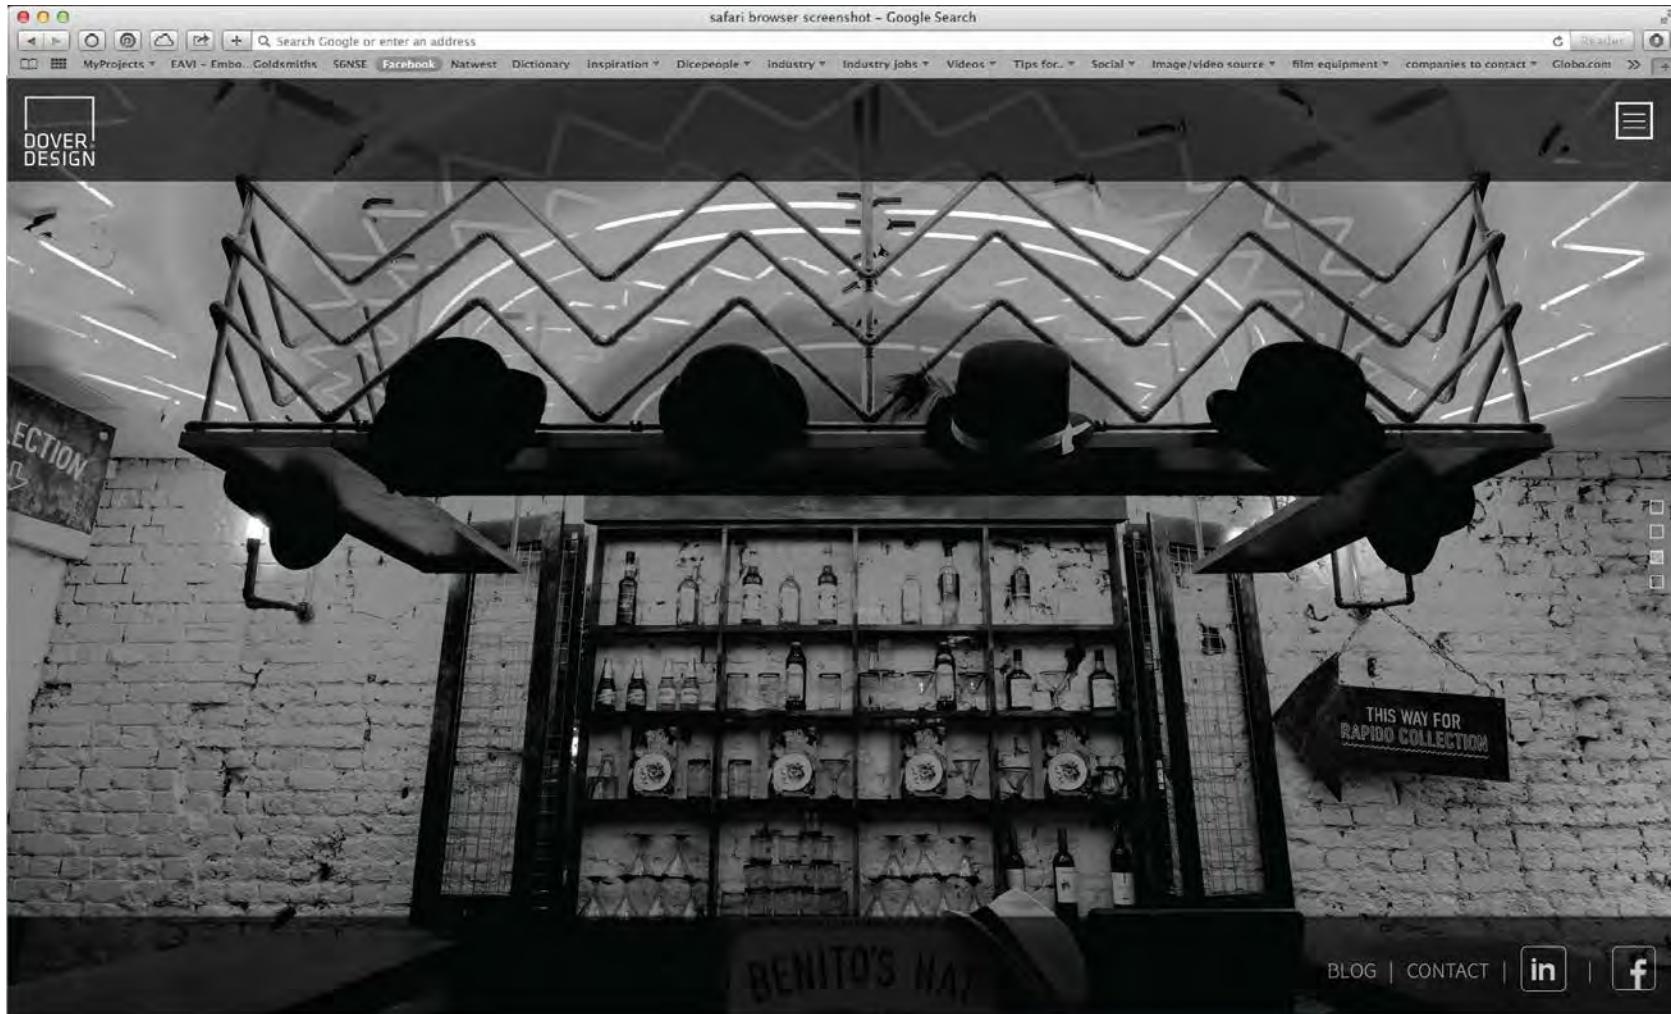

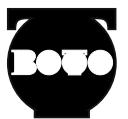

After a few seconds a translucent rectangle slides in from the side, Then after a few seconds they both, picture and rectangle fade out

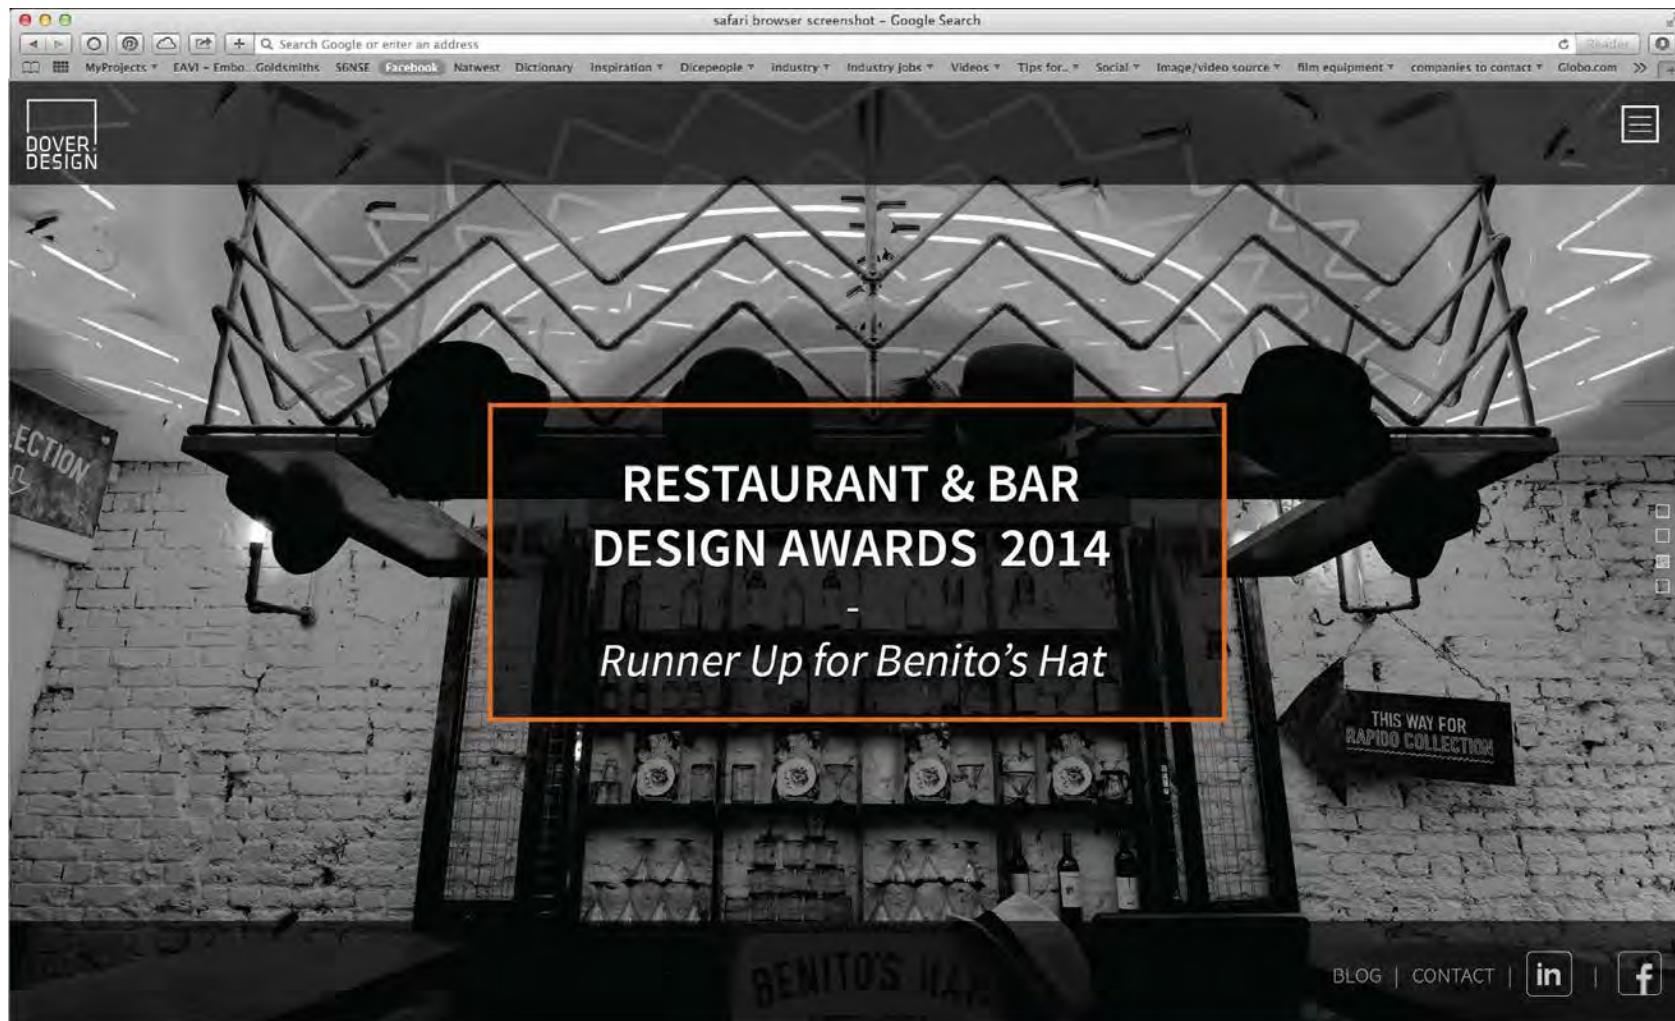

//Index > Homepage

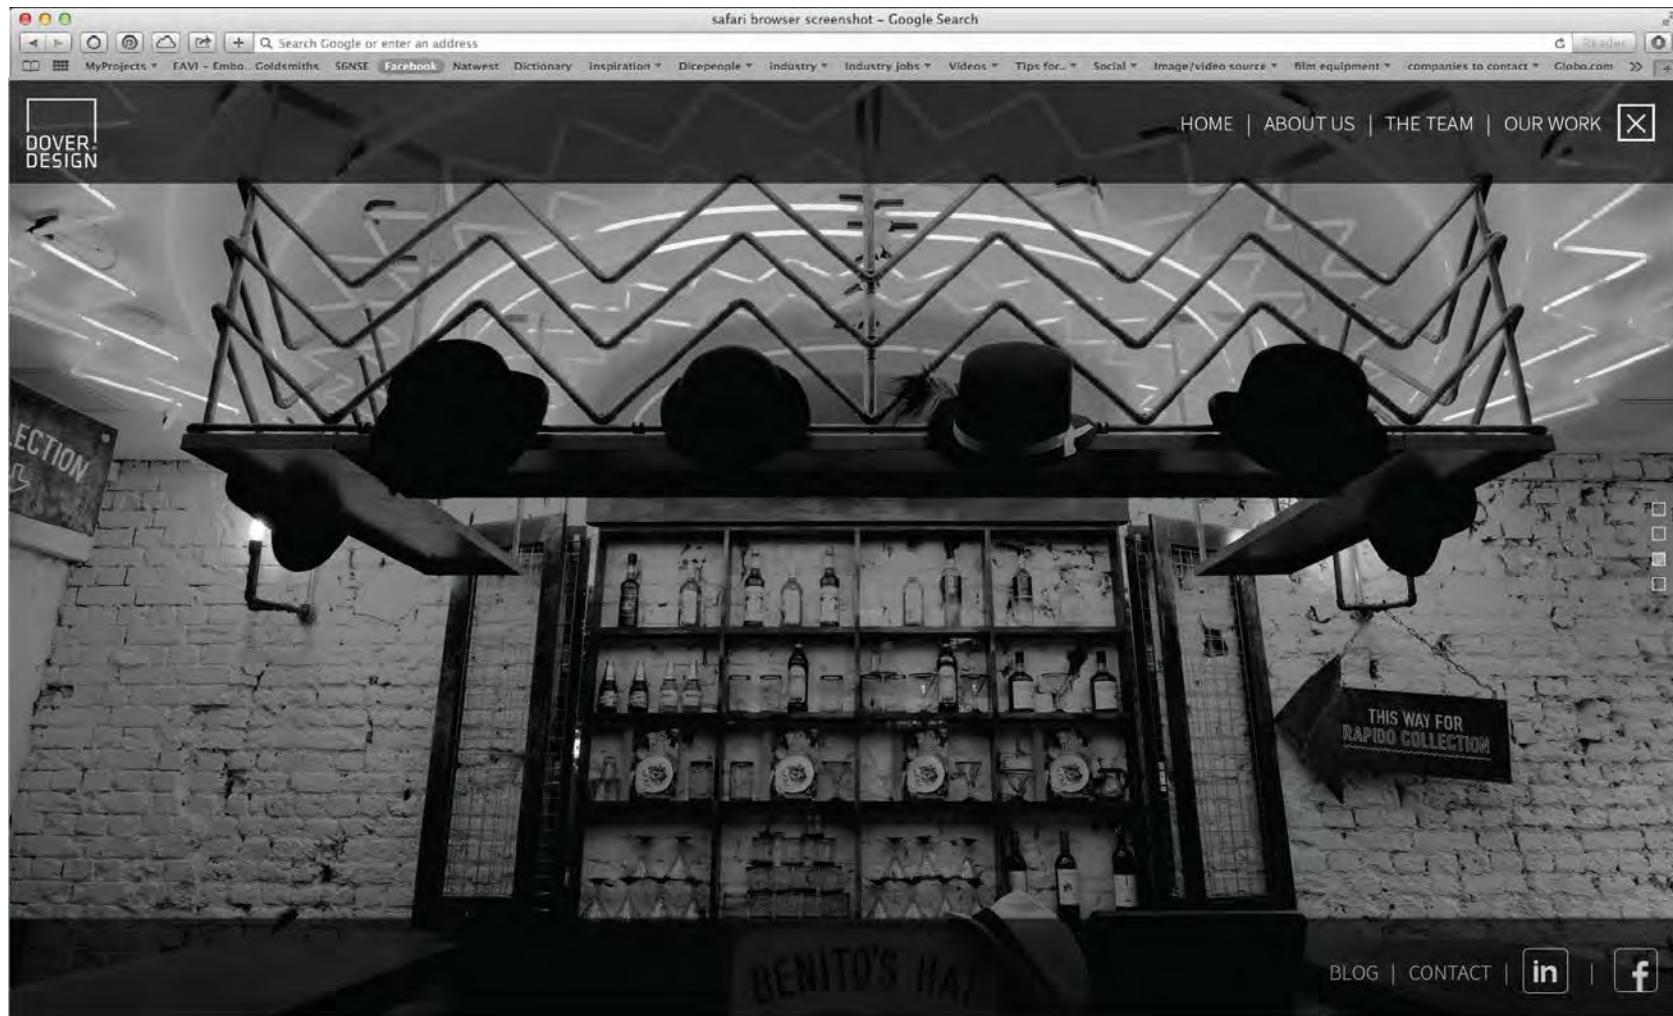

A different picture fades in

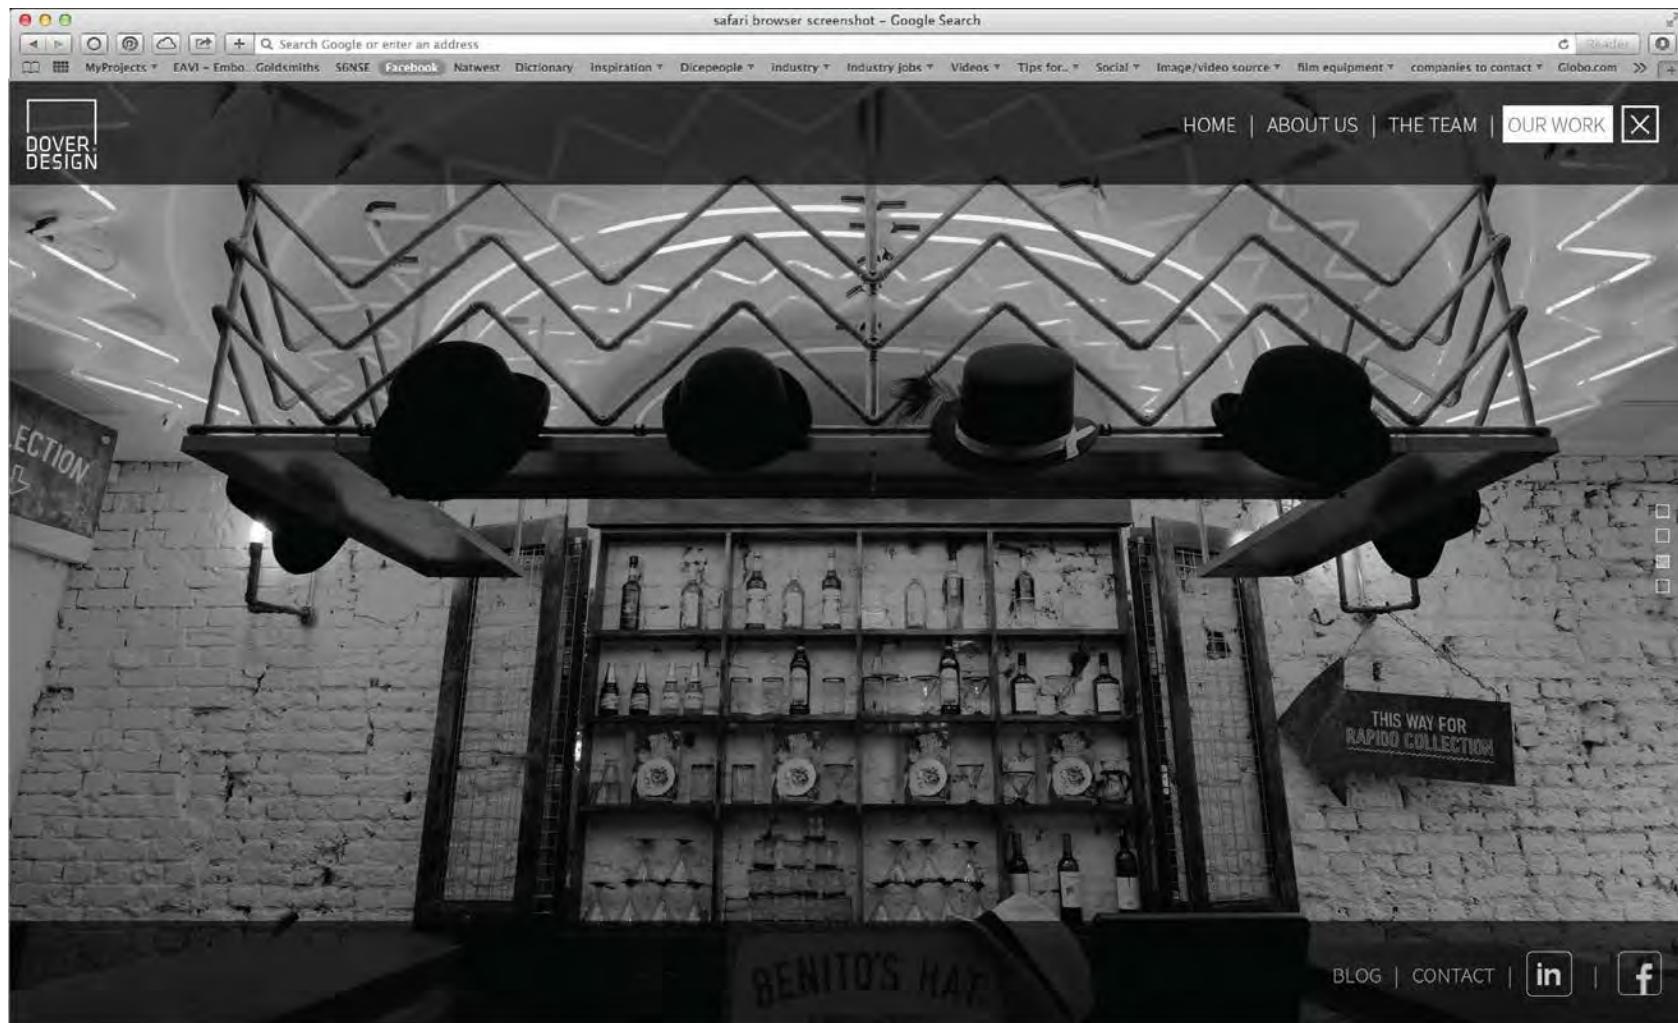

//Index > Homepage

Moving the cursor over the menu (on the top right of the page) will expand it with a movement from right to left

//Index > Homepage

If the cursor is placed over the links a white rectangle appears with a movement from right to left

Main Body:

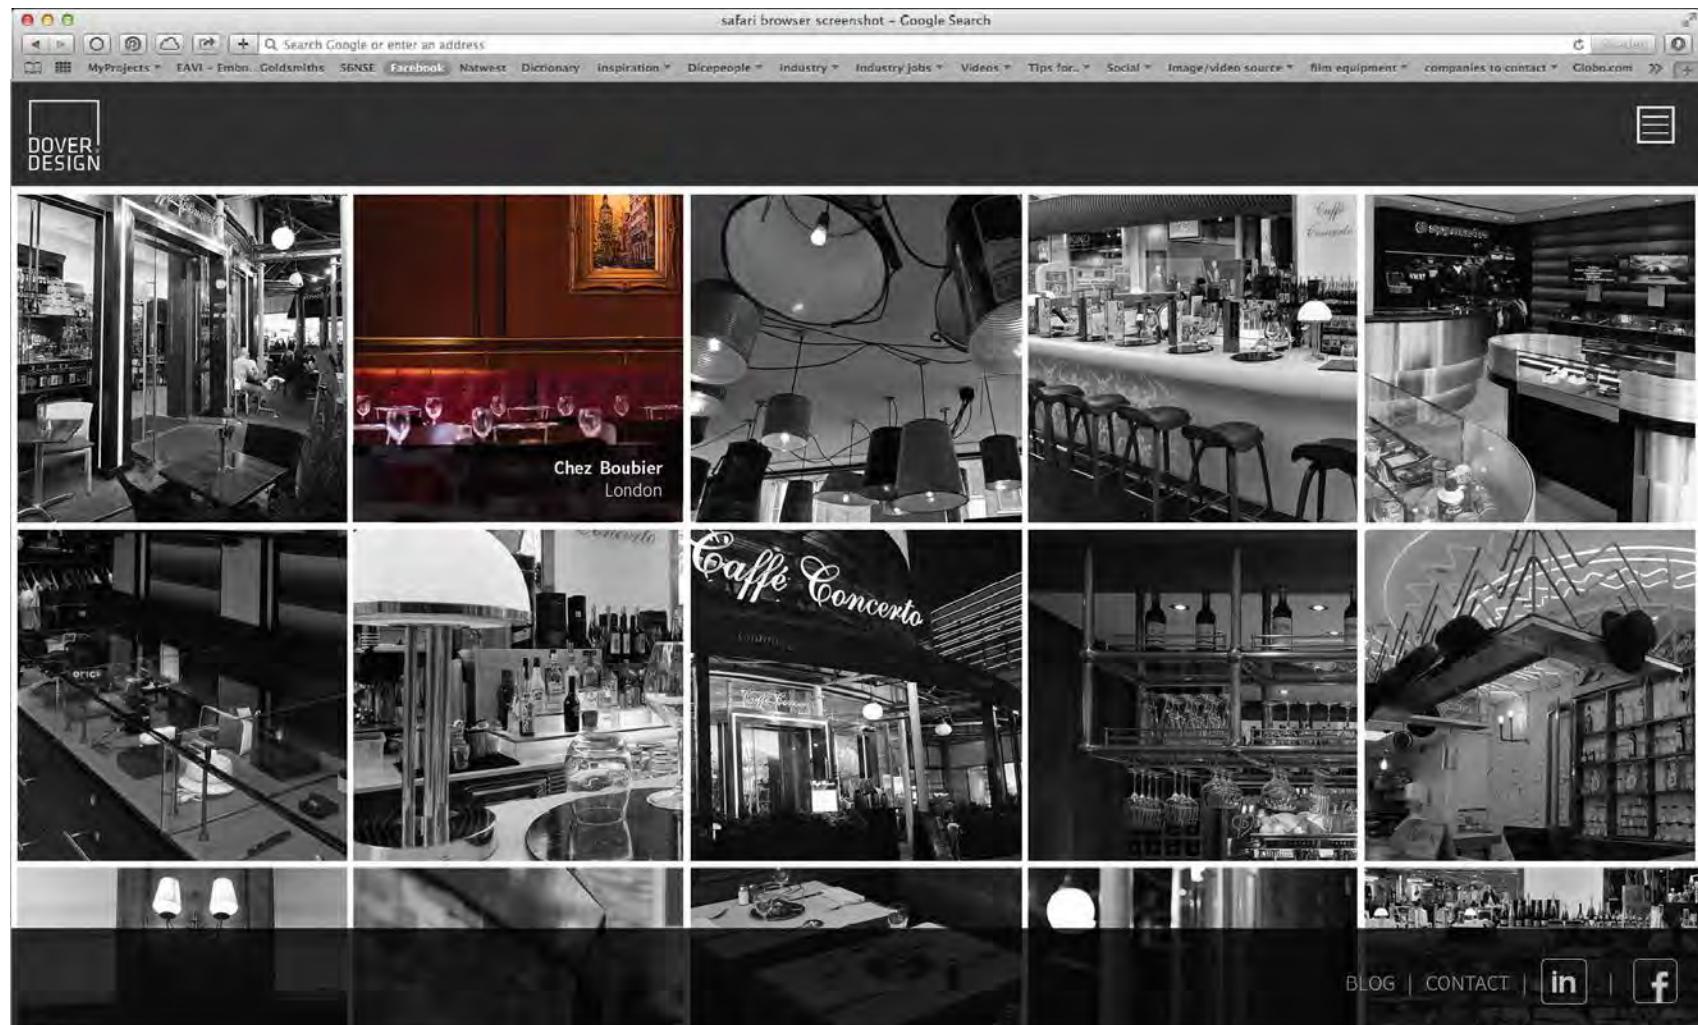

One black & white pictures of each of Dover Design projects displayed on a squared tile format. Moving the cursor over the pictures will make that specific picture colour and it will display the name of the project. The user can scroll up to see more projects and at the bottom of these pictures there will be a 'tab' saying 'Archive'. Clicking on it will load older projects that are also displayed on the same format.

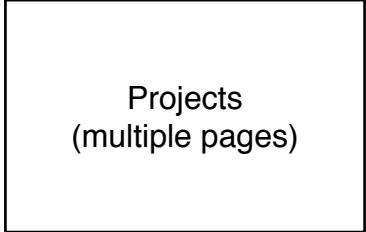

Each Dover Design project is one tile

Placing the cursor on top of a particular project will make that picture colour and the name of the project will appear with an upwards movement

Main Body:

9 Pictures of a project displayed on a tile format. A square with solid colour will display quotes from that specific client. The quote changes to a different one like a slide show.

At the bottom of the main body a Plus(+) icon or text MORE will be visible, clicking on it will open over the pictures a translucent solid colour with text on top.

The page will display 9 pictures of a specific project. The solid square will display a statement from this client. The statement will change like a slide show.

At the bottom left of the main body the user sees the 'Case Study' link. Clicking on it will load the case study for that project over the tiles

Admin

Features on the admin page

- Homepage Slideshow

- Change pictures on the slide show and change statement for that new picture.
- For the statement the user should have a field for the statement itself, one field for the author and one field for his/her role

- Add a new project page.

The ability to add a page with a new project.

- Select 9 pictures to upload
- Choose which one will be the cover (which will be displayed on the 'Our Work' page)
- Name of the Project (to be displayed on the 'Our Work' page with the picture)
- Choose the colour of the solid tile where the statement will be displayed
- option to write 3 statements. Add field for author and his/her role
- Add case study (text)

For the case study we want the system to generate 2 outcomes:

- 1 - A Case study page that will be displayed over the project page with text.
- 2 - A PDF file that will be available for download. The link will be available on the Case Study page.

Features on the admin page

- Move projects to Archive session

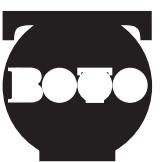

- A box that if the user enables it will move the project to the archive session of the website.

- Move the projects around

The ability change the order the projects are displayed on the ' Our Work' page.
